

3 D Printing: Its Applications in Pediatric Dentistry Practice

Noopur Kaushik, Nikhil Srivastava, Vivek Rana, Tushar Pruthi, Navpreet Kaur

Department of Pediatric & Preventive Dentistry, Subharti Dental College & Hospital, Swami Vivekanand Subharti University, SVSU, Meerut (Uttar Pradesh)

ABSTRACT:

Digital dentistry is a concept getting more and more contour nowadays, due to the latest technological advancements registered in the field. This paper makes a review of one of the newest digital technology, 3D Printing which is in its nascent stage to prove usefulness in Pediatric Dentistry. This technology would help in diagnosis, or would simplify procedures for both pediatric dentist and patient, and thus would contribute significantly in increasing the quality of the therapeutic act.

KEYWORDS: digital dentistry, 3D printing, pediatric dentistry